Attraction Teaser Trailer Beats

Attraction Teaser Trailer Beats:

1. 00:00:01 – 00:00:06. Display a Demon Hunter Symbol. Flickers with snowy TV noise in the background and emergency public broadcast announcement audio in the background.

2. 00:00:07 – 00:00:12. A man and woman, wearing t-shirts with pentagrams on them, holds and faces a camera at their faces. The man says to the camera, “We finally found it, guys. We found it. The Devil’s door.”

The image displays a collection of missing person posters from the Navajo Nation. The posters are arranged in a collage, with some overlapping others. Each poster features a black and white photograph of the missing individual, along with their name, date of disappearance, and a brief description. The posters are for both males and females, with some providing additional details like physical characteristics or last seen locations. The text on the posters is in English, and the overall layout is a dense arrangement of these search notices.

4. 00:00:19 – 00:00:24. Handheld camera is facing the man and woman as they walk into a Romani cemetery at night. They stop in front of row of empty graves. The woman says, “Check this out.” The camera pans to the graves. “Hundreds of empty graves.”

5. 00:00:25 – 00:00:33. The camera zooms in on their faces. The man says, “People have been disappearing here for DECADES. They all go missing at the local crossroads, which the Romani call ‘the mouth of Hell.’” The woman says “This is our chance to shut down hell! We need as many hunters as possible.”

6. 00:00:34 – 00:00:43. A cheesy PowerPoint slide appears on the screen. It lists the bullet points as the man and woman talk. “If you:

- Hate evil
 - Aren’t afraid of the unknown
 - Are willing to take down a demon
 - Can withstand pain or even torture
 - Want to save the human race
 - Have salt and lots of it
- ... Join us at the crossroads!”

7. 00:00:44 – 00:00:49. Camera cuts to the man and woman walking through the crossroads into the red tunnel while violins play in the background. The woman says, "It's our turn, now. See you on the other side!"

8. 00:00:50 – 00:00:54. As they're walking through the tunnel, high pitched Demonic screaming is suddenly heard. The camera shakes and falls to the ground, flickers, and then goes black.

9. 00:00:55 – 00:01:00. “The Devil’s Crossroads” logo appears on the screen.
